

Crawford County Missouri Stay at Home Order FAQ

Q: Why was this order issued?

A: The Stay-At-Home Emergency Order was issued to protect the health and safety of all residents of Crawford County, with the goal of limiting the spread of the novel coronavirus, COVID-19. It was issued based on the guidance of public health experts, as well as consultations with area medical leaders about the consequences of continued community spread of coronavirus in the Crawford County region on health care availability and access.

Q: How long is the order in effect for?

A: The new emergency order will take effect at (example: 12:01 AM on Friday, March 27, 2020 and will remain in effect through 11:59 PM on Sunday, April 26, 2020.) The order will be evaluated on an ongoing basis and may be modified as circumstances change based on guidance from public health officials and other experts.

Q: What does this order require?

A: The order requires Crawford County residents to stay at home unless they are engaged in one of the essential activities specified in the order. Essential activities include working in an essential business, obtaining supplies or necessary services, seeking medical care, caring for a family member or loved one, and exercising and maintaining personal health. Individuals are strongly encouraged to practice physical distancing to the extent feasible while engaging in these activities, and to stay home if not engaging in one of these specific activities.

Q: Will residents be subject to penalties such as arrest or citations for leaving their homes?

A: Residents can leave their residences to engage in essential activities, including exercising and maintaining personal health (walking/bicycling/running/etc.), working at an essential business, obtaining supplies or necessary services, or seeking medical care. We strongly urge Crawford County residents to stay at home if they are not engaged in any of these essential activities as this will greatly aid efforts to stop the community spread of COVID-19. While the focus of the Stay-At-Home Order is to promote citizen awareness and to provide guidance for activities, said Order is regulatory and willful violation of the Order is a violation of Section 192.320 RSMo, a Class A misdemeanor offense that is punishable by a fine of up to $2,000.00 dollars and/or incarceration for a term of up to 1 year in the county jail.

Q: Does my business qualify as an essential business as defined in the emergency order?

A. Major categories of essential businesses defined in the order include:

- Health care (doctors, dentists, nurses, hospitals, pharmacies, medical research facilities, blood donation services, labs, etc);
- Food and drink production and distribution (including grocery stores, markets, restaurants that offer food for carryout, liquor stores);
- Sanitation (including laundromats, dry cleaners, household and business cleaning services and supply stores);
- Transportation (including railroads, airports, public transit, taxis and other private transportation providers);
- Auto repair and service, including gas stations and auto supply stores;
- Financial Services (including banks, insurance providers, and professional services required to comply with legal and regulatory requirements);
- Lawn and landscaping services);
- Manufacturing and distribution of supplies and materials for essential businesses (including trucking and other supply chain support functions);
- Maintenance and construction of infrastructure and households;
- Building supply stores
- Childcare;
- Essential Government Operations;
- Residential care facilities
- Hotels and motels;
- Media and Communications Providers; and
- Mailing, Shipping, and Delivery services.

A full list of categories of essential businesses is provided in the order.

The County strongly encourages all essential businesses to allow employees to work from home and to maintain social distancing to the extent feasible in continuing to carry out their operations.

Q: My business does not fall under one of the categories deemed essential, can it remain open if health precautions are taken?

A: Non-essential businesses can continue operations that can be conducted from employees' homes or places of rest. They can also continue minimum necessary activities to maintain the value of the business's inventory and facilities and to ensure security, process payroll and employee benefits, or for related functions, as well as minimum necessary activities to facilitate employees of the business being able to continue to work remotely from their residences or places of rest, provided social distancing is maintained. Any operations that do not meet these requirements must be ceased.

Q: Do businesses and/or employees need formal certification or identification that they qualify as an essential business and/or are employed at an essential business?

A: No.

Q: I am unclear whether my business qualifies as essential or non-essential. Can I receive a formal recommendation from the County as to whether I qualify?

A: Currently guidance is available on a general (industry) basis and not a case by case (specific business) basis. We encourage all business owners to review the order in its entirety.

Q: What are the penalties for non-compliance of this order?

A: Non-compliance is a violation of Section 192.320 RSMo, a Class A misdemeanor offense that is punishable by a fine of up to $2,000.00 dollars and/or incarceration for a term of up to 1 year in the county jail

Q: How will this emergency order be enforced?

A: The County has many mechanisms to enforce this order in methods similar to other business-related ordinances (building occupancy, health requirements for food preparation, etc.), which can be carried out by multiple agencies including the Fire Marshal, Health Department, and law enforcement agencies. Enforcement measures may include civil remedies including but not limited to protective orders, and court issued injunctions. Enforcement may also extend to criminal prosecution.

Q: Is construction activity classified as essential?

A: Yes, public works, infrastructure (including commercial buildings), and commercial and residential construction are classified as essential. We strongly encourage construction businesses to carry out their work in compliance with physical distancing requirements and guidelines to the extent feasible.

Q: Are manufacturing facilities classified as essential?

A: Any manufacturing operation that supplies goods necessary for the operation of other essential businesses (for example medical equipment, transport equipment, telecommunications equipment, supplies necessary to maintain or build infrastructure, sanitation and cleaning supplies, food or beverages, etc.) is classified as essential.

Q: Are transportation providers, such as railroads, airports, buses, ride-share, taxis and truck drivers classified as essential?

A: Yes, transportation providers (Including railroads, airline and airport workers, and public transit organizations) are classified as essential. Additionally, maintenance providers (such as mechanics or bike repair shops) are also classified as essential, as are suppliers of parts needed to maintain the operations of transit providers. Truck drivers are also classified as essential.

Q: Are hotels and motels classified as essential?

A: Yes.

Q: Are home repair and maintenance services classified as essential?

A: Yes, home repair services including plumbers, electricians, exterminators, and other service providers who provide services that are necessary to maintaining the safety, sanitation, and essential operation of residences and essential businesses are classified as essential.

Q: Are childcare providers classified as essential?

A: Yes. The County recognizes that many workers in essential industries need access to child care to continue to work. The order includes the following guidance for childcare providers and the County recommends that all providers follow this guidance to the extent feasible:

1. Childcare should be carried out in stable groups, preferably with 10 or fewer (“stable” means that the same 10 or fewer children are in the same group each day);
2. Children should not change from one group to another;
3. If more than one group of children is cared for at one facility, each group should be in a separate room. Groups should not mix with each other; and
4. Childcare providers should remain solely with one group of children.

Q: Are realtors, leasing agents, building inspectors, and movers classified as essential?

A: Yes, realtors, leasing agents, building/housing inspection services, movers, and other services necessary to help people find or maintain housing are classified as essential. We strongly encourage all of these services to practice social distancing to the extent feasible and to limit unnecessary activities that can be deferred to a later date.

Q: Are personal services, such as nail salons, hair salons, and tanning facilities classified as essential?

A: No, businesses that provide personal services are not classified as essential.

Q: Are gyms, workout facilities, or golf courses classified as essential?

A: No, gyms, workout facilities, and golf courses are not classified as essential. However, individuals are encouraged to use parks and exercise outdoors while they practice physical Distancing.

Q: Why are schools closed and how long are they closed for?

A: School are closed because standard school operations posed a risk to health as a potential venue for community transmission. Schools can continue to operate to distribute food or clothing, provide medical care, or perform any other services deemed necessary to protect the life and property of Crawford County residents.

Q: I work at an essential business but don't believe I am an essential employee. Do I have to work?

A: The County cannot compel any individual to go to work, nor can it make determinations for essential businesses about which employees are essential and non-essential for carrying out its work. Essential businesses can continue standard operations provided social distancing is maintained to the extent feasible. Essential businesses are strongly encouraged to allow employees whose duties can be carried out from home to do so.

Q: I own a business in an essential industry. Do I have to stay open?

A: The County cannot compel any business to remain open.
